Narragunnawali Reconciliation in Schools and Early Learning in practice

What does Reconciliation mean in Australia in 2018?

Are you one of the many schools and Early Years services that are interested in preparing a Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP)?

This session is perfect for you if you have recently embarked on your Reconciliation journey and are looking for support and advice, or you have completed your RAP and would be keen to share ideas and inspiration with other educators.

You are invited to join us for this valuable session with special guest Alex Shain from Reconciliation Australia and will also experience a special dance performance from talented Whyalla youth dance group Dusty Feet Mob.

We look forward to meeting you for an exciting afternoon reflecting, exploring and inspiring you in your Reconciliation journey!

Narragunnawali (pronounced narra-gunna-wally) is a word from the language of the Ngunnawal people, Traditional Owners of the land on which Reconciliation Australia's Canberra office is located, meaning alive, wellbeing, coming together and peace. Along with the Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP) program for workplaces, the Indigenous Governance Awards and the National Reconciliation Week campaign, Narragunnawali forms the core business of Reconciliation Australia.
